1st International Conference on Education, Pedagogy and Curriculum (EDUPC,2025)

The College of Education at the University of Zakho will hold its First International Conference on Education, Pedagogy, and Curriculum on April 2025 ,30-29.

1- General Overview:

International conferences in the fields of education, pedagogy, and curriculum studies serve as bridges for communication and the exchange of ideas among researchers and practitioners from around the world, aiming to enhance collaboration and development in this vital area. Our international conference aspires to be a leading platform for highlighting and presenting the latest innovations and research that effectively impact curriculum development and improve educational methods.

Recognizing the challenges faced by the global education system, the conference will provide a valuable opportunity to discuss these challenges and share experiences and opinions on how to enhance educational effectiveness and achieve academic excellence for students. This conference embodies our firm commitment to academic and professional excellence, as we aim to stimulate fruitful discussions that contribute to the advancement of effective educational policies worldwide. We believe that this event represents a unique opportunity to present advanced research, exchange experiences, and build new scientific networks, thereby directly contributing to innovation and positive change in the field of education.

The College of Education at the University of Zakho acknowledges its responsibility in creating a distinguished educational environment that brings together researchers and specialists in the fields of education and teaching. By organizing this international conference, we aim to highlight the current state of education and discuss it from a comprehensive global perspective. We strive to enhance scientific exchange, share successful experiences, and encourage dialogue on best educational practices and academic and curriculum developments. This will contribute to improving education quality and developing sustainable educational policies. We believe that this conference will mark a significant milestone in the journey of educational development, and we warmly welcome you to participate in this important event.
